

Product Developer / Product Manager – Pet Food (m/f/d)

Pet Nutrition – Southern Germany

ID-Nr. 753354074

Our client is an owner-managed premium pet food manufacturer based in southern Germany. The company is one of the leading suppliers in the European market and has been growing at a double-digit rate for years. To support their dynamic product development team, we are seeking a quality-driven, communicative personality with a passion for pet nutrition and innovation.

We offer:

- Responsibility for the existing product portfolio and development of new recipes from concept to market launch
- Consulting with international clients on nutritional and formulation topics
- Identification of market trends and development of new product ideas
- Cross-functional collaboration with sales, purchasing, QA, and production
- Ensuring regulatory compliance and reviewing product specifications

Your profile:

- Strong curiosity and enthusiasm for developing new solutions, questioning the status quo, and rethinking established practices
- Passion for interdisciplinary collaboration
- 3+ years of experience in food or pet food product development
- Degree in agricultural sciences, food technology, animal nutrition, or similar
- Structured, independent working style and strong team orientation
- Excellent command of German and English
